In a night of special recognition, Hawaii paid tribute to Wounded Warriors, military spouses and service members recently returned from deployment.

Military Appreciation Night ceremonies highlighted the Western Athletic Conference football game between the University of Hawaii Warriors and the Aggies of Utah State at Aloha Stadium, Halawa on Nov. 5.

The annual event was attended by dignitaries, including Honolulu Mayor Peter Carlisle, Maj. Gen. Darryll Wong, Brig. Gen. Kevin G. O'Connell, Navy League President Melvin Ing, UH Athletic Director Jim Donovan, State Representative K. Mark Takai and Oceanic Time Warner Cable President Bob Barlow.

Army Staff Sgt. Samuel Hesch offered stellar renditions of "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America."

Ceremonies were kicked off with the 5th Annual Key Spouse Award presentation, which is sponsored by the Honolulu Navy League.

Then at halftime, the 30,000-plus crowd at Aloha Stadium remained riveted to their seats and paid tribute to nine Wounded Warriors and service members from each branch who recently returned from deployments.

The presentation of awards and recognition of Hawaii's service members and their families helped offset a disappointing night for the home team, which saw a 28-7 advantage at halftime evaporate into a 35-31 defeat at the hands of the Aggies.

Lady Falcons fall short to Army Her-icanes

The Hickam Falcons women's flag football team gave up two touchdowns late in the second half and succumbed to the Army Her-icanes, 26-13, in a Women's Flag Football League (WFFL) game at Marine Corps Base Hawaii (MCBH) on Nov. 4.

The WFFL is a new league that is designed to accommodate military-affiliated women who are interested in giving the gridiron sport a try.

"It's all military-affiliated and open to all women: active-duty, spouses, reservists and even veterans," said Hospital Corpsman 3rd Class Eustacia Joseph of Naval Health Clinic Hawaii, league founder and president. "It's all free. Even the refs volunteer for it. The only thing the girls will do is buy their own shirts."

While most of the women are novices of the sport, the games between the league's four teams – Navy, Air Force, Army and Marines – have been competitive and well played.

During their skirmish against the Her-icanes, the Falcons, despite playing in only their third game of the season, gave their opponents all they could handle and nearly walked away with their first victory.

Army quickly came out and scored on their first two drives of the game to take a 13-0 advantage over the Falcons.

On their first series, the Her-icanes, led by quarterback Sgt. Lyn Aldana, needed only three plays to move from their own 20 to the Hickam 23-yard line.

Facing fourth down after an incomplete pass, Aldana connected with Spc. Imelda Alaimaleata for the first score of the game and a 6-0 lead.

After the Falcons drive stalled on the Army 20, Aldana marched the Her-icanes to the Hickam 12-yard line, before hooking up with Alaimaleata for the duo's second touchdown of the night.

The Her-icanes made good on a one-point conversion to extend their lead to 13-0.

Instead of folding under the pressure of the Her-icanes, the Falcons rose to the occasion under the leadership of quarterback Airman 1st Class Ciera Stremming of the 561st Network Operation Squadron Det. 1.

Stremming completed six out of six passes and rambled for a 26-yard gain to help the Falcons cut the deficit down to six.

The Hickam QB covered the drive's final five yards on a pass to Air Force spouse Toni Cisneros.

In the second half, Hickam was forced to punt on their opening drive, but came back to tie the score on their next series with an impressive 11-play, 67-yard march to pay dirt.

Stremming found Senior Airman Amanda Bolognino with a soft-touch pass to the left corner of the end zone for the game-tying touchdown.

Although the Falcons seemed to gain momentum with their second TD of the game, Aldana and Alaimaleata seized back the spotlight, as the pair put Army back in front in a hurry.

On second down at the Army 23, Aldana heaved a bomb to Alaimaleata, who made the over-the-top catch and ran untouched into the end zone for 57 yards and a 19-13 lead.

"It was a hitch-and-go, but it seems that they weren't biting on it. So we called an all-out fly and it worked out for us," said Army Sgt. 1st Class Kameron Hickam, who coaches the team with Master Sgt.

Charles Freeman. "She's (Alaimaleata) a real good receiver, as long as she runs her route."

Following the game, Falcons head coach Personnel Specialist 3rd Class Daniel Rice said that the loss was all part of the growing pains experienced by a new squad.

Still, Rice said that he is encouraged that his hard-working group of women will turn things around very shortly.

"Fundamentally wise, they've played way better than what they have," Rice commented about his team, which got a late start in the league. "They've only played three games, so they're still at a point of getting caught up. I'm very positive. We should be OK."

Even though this is his first time coaching women, Rice said that he has been very impressed by their eagerness to learn and their hardcore attitude on the field.

"Mostly when guys get injured, they'll come out. But the ladies will grit it and try to keep playing," Rice noted. "And overall, women are more easy to teach. They don't have as much ego."

Joseph said that the league will hold its playoff on Nov. 27 at MCBH, but there is still time for women who are interested in playing football this season.

The league will take a break for the holidays after the playoffs, but will resume with a spring schedule starting in January.

Juggernauts beat 647th CES in overtime thriller

Airman 1st Class Phillip Vandenberg made a leaping grab of Tech. Sgt. Blane Woodard's toss in the back of the end zone to lift the Hangar 5 Juggernauts to a 19-13 overtime win over the 647th Civil Engineer Squadron (647 CES) in a Hickam Gold Division flag football game at Ward Field, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam on Nov. 8.

The clutch catch came on fourth down and put a sudden end to a nail-biting thriller that finished in a 13-13 tie at the end of regulation.

With the victory, the Juggernauts jumped over the 647 CES in the Gold and avenged an earlier season loss to their divisional rival. Both teams entered the showdown with identical 5-4 records.

"This game was huge," said Woodard after the team's come-from-behind win. "Last time we played them we were sluggish and they dominated us. With this win, it actually moved us up to third place, which is just above them."

Earlier in the contest, it seemed as if the 647 CES was on their way to a repeat of their first matchup with the Juggernauts, when the team quickly covered 65 yards on only four plays to score the first touchdown of the game.

Facing second and 10 yards to go for a score, CES quarterback Department of Defense civilian Jose Flores zeroed in on wide receiver Senior Airman Chris Maguindang and delivered a perfect strike to the left side of the end zone for six.

The converted point after touchdown (PAT) made the score 7-0 in favor of the engineers.

Playing from behind, the Juggernauts answered the call with a 65-yard march of their own to tie the score at 7-7.

Using the scrambling ability of Woodard, Hangar 5 took nine plays to reach the 10-yard line, before the Juggernauts QB connected with Staff Sgt. Cary Obidinski for a touchdown.

Woodard, whose running gave the CES defense fits throughout the game, said that the tough 647 secondary forced him to scramble.

"They were spying me for containment and playing man-to-man coverage with a single safety," Woodard explained. "With that, they locked down a lot of our shorter routes, which forced me to not have enough time to look for the pass."

Meanwhile, the CES continued to have success on offense as they took the ball all the way to the house on their second series, as well.

This time, Flores needed seven plays before hooking up with Senior Airman Joseph Torres for 10 yards and a score to take a 13-7 lead into halftime.

After the break, the Juggernauts got the game-tying touchdown on their first drive of the second half, then stepped up their defense to shutdown the CES attack.

During the Juggernauts scoring drive, Woodard rushed for 54 yards on only three carries, then hit Vandenberg with a 15-yard toss into the end zone for six points and a 13-13 tie.

Late in the second half, Maguindang picked off a Woodard pass and carried the ball to the Juggernauts 32-yard line.

With only 28 seconds remaining in regulation and the ball resting on the Hangar 5 two-yard line, Vandenberg came up with a game-saving play when he stepped in front of a Flores toss and picked it off to send the game into overtime.

"I was just making sure that he (Flores) wasn't going to run it in," Vandenberg said. "I just stopped there on the goal line. It was a lob pass. I read it and picked it off."

Vandenberg came up big once again on the team's second series in overtime, as he hauled in the game-winning toss.

On fourth down, with the ball on the 18, Vandenberg snuck past the secondary before reaching up to make the catch in the back of the end zone.

"Originally it was supposed to be a shuffle pass," Vandenberg said. "I had to get the touchdown, so I just wheeled out left, he (Woodard) threw it up and I was there."

With the comeback win, the Juggernauts have now won three games in row and Woodard said, he feels like the team is on a roll.

"Now that we're having the same players show up on a regular basis, we can actually jell as a team," he said. "Now that we're moving the ball like we should and our defense locking down, we're looking good past these games."

Unbeaten VP-4 sends Lake Erie to third defeat

Randy Dela Cruz

Sports Editor

Back-to-back scores on its first two possessions helped Patrol Squadron Four (VP-4) beat USS Lake Erie (CG 70), 19-13, in an Afloat Flag Football League game at Ward Field, Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam on Nov. 5.

The win kept VP-4 ahead of the pack as the only undefeated team in the Afloat League with a spotless record of 6-0, while the Lake Erie saw their mark fall to 3-3.

"We got a good squad. I got lots of talented players," said Lt. Cmdr. Terry Wise after his team's victory. "We're capable of winning every single one of our games. We know that now, but it's one game at a time."

On the opening drive of the game, the VP-4 defense flexed, but did not break, as it stopped Lake Erie 20 yards short of the goal.

Then, on his first possession, VP-4 quarterback Aviation Machinist's Mate 2nd Class Antwuan Chandler moved the team just outside the red zone at the Lake Erie 26 on five plays.

After three incomplete passes, Chandler came up with a clutch toss when he found Aviation Ordnanceman Airman Sheltric Peterson in the end zone for six.

"They tried to rush, but I

Patrol Squadron Four (VP-4) quarterback Aviation Machinist's Mate 2nd Class nosed the football over the goal line for a touchdown during the team's matchup against USS Lake Erie (CG 70).

just found the open receiver," said Chandler about his scoring pass. "We don't plan our plays. They (receivers) run their routes, I find them open and I hit them."

The team converted its point after touchdown (PAT) to take a quick 7-0 lead over Lake Erie.

Back on defense, VP-4 got a huge break when Lake Erie, on fourth down at their own eight-yard line, handed the ball over on a bad snap at the one.

Chandler immediately made Lake Erie pay for their mistake by flipping a short pass to Wise for the team's second touchdown of the game and a 13-0 advantage.

The teams exchanged interceptions - Aviation Maintenance Administration 2nd Class for VP-4 and Engineman 3rd Class Israel Bravo for Lake Erie - on the next two drives to close out the first half.

In the second half, the Lake Erie defense tightened and stopped VP-4 on their opening drive after gaining only 15 yards.

Starting in good field position at the VP-4 30-yard line, Lake Erie quarterback J.J. Perez, with the aid of an illegal use of hands penalty on VP-4, moved the ball to the 10 before finding Sonar Technician (Surface) Seaman Ron Sellers with a scoring strike to narrow the margin.

A converted PAT brought the Lake Erie to within six points at 13-7.

Following another stop by the Lake Erie defense, the team received a solid chance of tying the score when it took the ball on downs at its own 25 and moved to the VP-4 three-yard line on five plays.

However, after an incomplete pass, Gas Turbine System (Mechanical) Fireman Brandon Reed was called for offensive pass interference in the end zone before Perez was sacked back at the 20 to end the threat.

The stop seemed to turn momentum back into the hands of VP-4, as the team pushed the ball upfield to the Lake Erie one-yard line on five plays.

On the next play, Chandler broke the plane on a dive up the middle for the team's final touchdown.

Lake Erie's hurry-up offense answered with six points of their own on just two pass plays to Reed, but it was too little and too late, as time expired.

"I know we could have won. We're definitely a better team than the teams we've lost to," Perez said. "We got the skills and work ethic; it's just the little things that we're messing up on. We're basically choking in the spotlight."

Wise pointed out that even though VP-4 continued its winning streak, he knows that the team could have played better.

"They (Lake Erie) are a good team, so it was good that we played good enough to beat them," Wise said. "But we should have been in control the whole way. We can definitely play better."

Library patrons benefit from 'A Midsummer Knight's Read'

Assistant Editor

Under the medieval theme of "A Midsummer Knight's Read," Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam (JBPHH) Library featured programs this summer for children and families, ranging from making magic wands and stained glass windows to decorating shields and dragon masks.

The second annual coordinated summer reading program from May 31 to July 16, hosted by Department of Defense military libraries, logged more than 11 million minutes spent reading by children and families worldwide at about 250 base libraries, including at JBPHH.

Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam Library was decked out in festive attire for the summer program with the theme "A Midsummer Knight's Read."

Hope Leach said her daughters, ages 4 and 7, found lots of age-appropriate books to read during the event.

"My kids love to read anyway," Leach said.

"They thought all the crafts programs and movies were cool, but their biggest thrills were 'Tumblebooks,' an online collection of animated talking picture books on computer for young children of different age levels. Children could read the books on-screen or they could be read to," Leach explained. "My girls enjoyed the computer games and quizzes included in the online exercises, and they liked the fact that they could print out a certificate signifying completion of the books," she said. Leach is the wife of Air Force Maj. James Leach of the 613th Air and Space Operations Center (AOC).

Navy spouse Nyasha Boyd said her 19-month-old daughter loved the summer reading program and 111 books were read to her daughter during the summer. "Our family liked that we could register to read books online and log them in. It was an opportunity to read," said Nyasha, who is the wife of Chief Yeoman Raymond Boyd.

"Programs at the JBPHH library included feasts with refreshments from the Friends of the Library, age-appropriate goody bags, T-shirts and prizes," explained Phyllis Frenzel, library director.

Frenzel stated that 339 people registered for the summer reading program at the JBPHH library, and they read a total of 6,929 books.

Frenzel said, "For children who are little and read to, it instills a love for books and reading, and bonding with their parents through stories. The summer reading program also promotes library use at an early age."

"Older children benefit from the program because it helps them maintain their reading skills during the summer break from school. It's also an opportunity for children to entertain themselves, learn about another country or identify with a character they read about in a book," she said.

"It promotes lifelong learning. If you love to read, you're never bored," Frenzel added.

"We are thrilled with the enthusiasm and growing participation in the DoD-wide program," said Nilya Carrato, program assistant for the Navy General Library Program. "Families are excited to have high-quality programming that is consistent from base to base, and librarians are glad to have a strong theme and shared resources."

Cook with caution to prevent fires

Federal Fire Department

The Federal Fire Department tip for the month of November is: stay in the kitchen when frying, grilling or broiling food. Don't leave food unattended.

Cooking brings family and friends together, provides an outlet for creativity and can be relaxing. But did you know that cooking fires are the number one cause of home fires and home injuries? By following a few safety tips you can prevent these fires.

Be on alert. If you are sleepy or have consumed alcohol, don't use the stove or stovetop.

If you leave the kitchen for even a short period of time, turn off the stove.

If you are simmering, baking, roasting or boiling food, check it regularly, remain in the home while food is cooking, and use a timer to remind you that you are cooking.

Keep anything that can catch fire — oven mitts, wooden utensils, food packaging, towels or curtains — away from your stovetop.

If you have a cooking fire, just get out. When you leave, close the door behind you to help contain the fire.

Call 9-1-1 or the local emergency number after you leave.

If you try to fight the fire, be sure others are getting out and you have a clear way out.

Keep a lid nearby when you are cooking to smother small grease fires. Smother the fire by sliding the lid over the pan, and turn off the stovetop. Leave the pan covered until it is completely cooled.

For an oven fire, turn off the heat and keep the door closed.

The leading cause of fires in the kitchen is unattended cooking and most cooking fires in the home involve the stovetop.

Have a "kid-free zone" of at least three feet around the stove and areas where hot food or drink is prepared or carried.
